Geography is more than just maps, space and locations. At Camosun College, Geography gives you the opportunity to explore topics and methods in ways that you may not have even thought about. Climate change, globalization, racism, poverty, regional development, seismic activity, and AIDS are a few of the topics offered at the college. Research methods in Geography are eclectic and actual: Remote Sensing, Geographical Information Systems (GIS) and Statistical Methods make geographical research exciting and practical. Come and explore Geography at Camosun College. It may just change your view of things!
