

Every Book Has Value

- Camosun College Bookstore joins with Better World Books to help students and faculty send their out of date or “No Value” Textbooks to those in need.

Better World Books

- Better World Books facilitates the shipment of 'no value' books from North American colleges to those in need.
- BWB now has 3 major literacy partners, Books for Africa, the National Center for Family Literacy and Room to Read to distribute these donations.

BOOKS FOR AFRICA

- As of the end of 2005, Books for Africa is the largest shipper of books to the African continent...having shipped over 13 million books to 26 countries since 1988!
- In 2005 alone, BFA sent 1.6 million text, library and reference books valued at $10.6 million to their partners in Africa, touching the lives of hundreds of thousands of individuals....

A recent shipment to Nigeria put 16,000 books in an otherwise empty library at an IT school.

NATIONAL CENTER FOR FAMILY LITERACY

- National Center for Family Literacy, our newest partner, has recently delivered the first large shipment of books to the hurricane devastated regions of America.
- These books have been filling libraries and community centers in an effort to reach as many people as possible.

These photos were taken at some of the recipient organizations such as Agape Christian Childcare Center, Chinese Community Center, and Star of Hope.

ROOM TO READ

- Room to Read has reached many milestones this year. In November they donated their 1 millionth book to libraries and schools throughout Southeast Asia.
- To celebrate this success Room To Read simultaneously opened 30 school libraries, bringing literature to nearly 10,000 children in a single day!

Every Book Has Value

- In April 2005, Camosun Bookstore started the “Every Book Has Value” campaign. During buyback, students are given 20% off logo merchandise when they donate their out of print books.
- To date, they have donated more than 2,500 books to Better World Books

Thanks to Camosun's students and faculty for their generous donations!
